LAST DAY OF THE COVENTION

Sabbath School Workers of Bradford County Return to Their Homes.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR THE ENSUING YEAR

Place For Holding Next Year's Convention Left to Executive Committee— Resolutions Adopted—Report of the Closing Day's Work.

Wednesday, the last day of the Bradford County Sunday school convention in the Methodist Episcopal church was marked by a large attendance of interested Sunday school workers. At the morning session P. A. Smith of Camptown, led the devotional services.

Miss Coates then had the floor with the subject "Cradle Rolls." The value of the cradle roll was explained and the different methods of getting members and conducting cradle rolls. The enthusiastic interest which the primary school will take in obtaining the names for the cradle roll was discussed. By all means have a special cradle roll day, when all the mothers are to come and bring the cradle roll baby and special exercises in honor of the day. The cradle roll secures the interest of the parents in the Sunday school even before the child is old enough to be an attendant, and many parents have been led back to the church by the baby in the home. There are only 44 cradle rolls, with a membership of 811 in the county. To be a front line county there must be at least 78 by next year.

Mr. Reel distributed slips for a round table conference upon "The Adult Department." A description of the parade of over 7,000 men of adult bible classes at Harrisburg was given. The spectacular scene did not mean so much, as that this stood for the bible. These men represented 1200 schools of the state.

Questions upon the adult class work were answered. The class must have besides the teacher, a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, and various committees. A class is just as practical in a small church as in a larger, and often will double the attendance. Begin with only a small class if necessary, and have several in the school, if the friendly rivalry will help. Go to the average man and ask him to attend Sunday school and he will smile and say Sunday school is a place for women and children. Be sure you have a class for men that will give this man a friendly hand, will make him welcome. Have an organized class for men and one for women. There are many ways that a class can help the church and Sunday school.

Address "The Sunday School; For Whom; For What", by Rev. Edwin A. Gernant, M. A., Towanda. When the Sunday school is crowded with parents it will not be too childish for the young men. The Sunday school is first, last and always for all ages and all classes. It should not be a place for entertainment and amusement only. As long as men and women live they need to be taught. The Sunday school is needed for religious teaching.

Address, "Our Old Book", Rev. A. E. Piper, D. D., Wilkes-Barre. We have been talking school. The term school implies Book. Our Book is God's word to each and to all. The teaching of our Old Book was taken up and compared with any other book written. The Old Book produces goodness, teaches truth, contains changeless messages on development of character.

We can find enough of meat in the bible to create character. Leave the difficulties; we can safely postpone the difficulties to some future time. Our difficulty of today may be our deliverance of tomorrow. The speaker read some of the latest records of science to show that nothing in science contradicts the first of Genesis as to the creation. The audience gave undivided attention and would have been glad to have listened much longer to this fine address.

Report of auditing committee was accepted. A balance of $54.64 on hand.

Reading of new constitution. After much discussion carried that the constitution be accepted as read. Motion carried that a musical director be among the county officers, whose duty shall be to have charge of music of convention.

Report of district association standing committee read and adopted as follows: District organized and district, convention held; 90 per cent. of schools open all year; 20 per cent. of schools have organized adult classes; statistics of each school sent to County secretary by May 1, 6; contribution by each school to county work; 75 per cent of schools represented at county convention; 50 per cent of schools have cradle rolls; 30 per cent. of schools have home departments; 20 per cent. of schools have teacher's training classes. A banner district qualifies in five points. A star district qualifies in eight points. A front line district qualifies in ten points.

Motion carried that the county pledge $60 next year to the state work.

Reports of committee on nominations accepted as follows: President, Rev. James S. Wilkes, Stevensville; vice-president, Rev. D. D. Campbell, Towanda; recording and statistical secretary, Mrs. Newell G. Corbin, Potterville; treasurer, L. B. Gillette, Towanda; home department superintendent, Mrs. M. J. Swart, Canton; primary superintendent, Miss Hannah Waltman, New Albany; temperance superintendent, Rev. E. P. Morse, Troy; normal superintendent, Rev. H. M. Pease, Sayre; adult bible class superintendent, Rev. F. J. Niles, Rome; musical director, Rev. C. C. Gustin, East Canton.

Attendance about 150. Wednesday afternoon attendance 300. The song and devotional service was conducted by Rev. Bloomfield of LeRaysville and Rev. Niles of Rome.

Miss Coates then gave a short talk on using the bibles in the Sunday school. The audience gave her the chautauqua salute as a mark of their good will. Gleanings from the state convention at Harrisburg were given by Isaac Cleaver and Pres. J. S. Wilkes and W. D. Reel.

Address, "Fishers of Men", Rev. E. M. Mills, D. D., Syracuse. Christ used his lips to utter illustrations which the people could see with their eyes, thus making the illustration more effective. The man who is going to catch men for Christ, must be Christ-caught himself. The Christ-like life in the Sunday school and the church is what we need. The changed life is needed to convince the people of the world that Christ's love is in the heart. "Let him know that he that converteth a sinner from the error of his ways saveth a soul from destruction.

Motion carried that the place of meeting be left to the executive committee.

The chautauqua salute was here given as a mode of expressing the appreciation the convention felt for the earnest efforts of F. H. Ott and W. D. Reel in making the convention so successful.

W. D. Reel had the closing number on the program and it was fully up to the standard set by the opening numbers.

Our vision of today is the possibility of the Sunday schools tomorrow. About one-twentieth of all the Sunday schools are in the Keystone state. Make your motto, Vision, Vigor, Victory. Take your enthusiasm home with you. Belong to the best Sunday school in your town. Make it so. Let's make up our minds that the things we have heard at this convention will be made use of 365 days of the year.

The audience joined in singing the Christian battle cry, "Onward, Christian Soldiers", and were dismissed by the pastor of the church. Thus closed one of the best and most enthusiastic of Bradford county's Sunday school conventions.

Resolutions.

The following resolutions were adopted.

We, the delegates of the Bradford County Sunday school association, assembled in the Methodist Episcopal church at Towanda, Oct. 20, would hereby extend to the Sunday schools and citizens of this community our most cordial and hearty thanks for the real hospitality they have shown us, in opening their homes and hearts to us. To the officers of the Methodist church for the use of their beautiful and commodious church. To the officers of the association for their efficient management of its affairs, and the feast of inspiration and helpfulness they have prepared in this convention. To the speakers for their deep, earnest and inspiring addresses. To Dr. Mills for the splendid supplement he has prepared for the use of the convention. And here let the committee suggest that the highest appreciation we can show for the preparation and printing of this will be to supply ourselves with a liberal number of copies for our friends and Sunday schools. We would offer as a further resolution that the Bradford county Association adopt as its official motto the words, "Vision, Vigor, Victory." Signed Dora Elliott, H. C. Snitcher, Winfield James Davies.

MIKE COMPARTO MAKES STATEMENT

Tells of the Philadelphia Murder, Admitting to Have Been "Lookout."

RINGS IN TOWANDA IN STORY OF HIS LIFE

Feared Italian Who Had Threatened Him Because He Testified Against a Black Hand Member Who Was Being Tried in Towanda.

Towanda people who have often thought that desperate members of the dreaded Black Hand have made the county seat their residing place, will surely be convinced by the confession of Mike Comparto, who formerly lived here, had much trouble here, and is now under arrest in connection with the double murder in Philadelphia on the night of Sept. 27. Comparto in the story of his life, which he tells in connection with the murder, mentions Towanda, reciting his crimes here and punishment.

He implicates Sabantito DeMassa, who was known in Towanda as "Frank," claiming that De Massa did the killing, and that he, Comparto, was the "lookout."

Comparto's Statement.

Comparto, in his statement to the Philadelphia police, says he landed in New York nine years ago. After remaining there for a short time he went to Towanda, and had been there only a short time when he was sentenced to a year for housebreaking and robbery. After serving his time he went back to New York, and then to Sayre, Pa., where he got into trouble with the police. He went to Towanda again, where he was sentenced to four years in the Eastern Penitentiary for aggravated assault and battery and shooting with intent to kill. While there he stabbed another Italian in connection with some Black Hand affair, and for this he lost the time he otherwise would have had for good conduct.

His Meeting With De Massa.

After being given his freedom he wandered around the country from place to place and got into many kinds of trouble. He was only released from prison on September 9, 18 days before the Philadelphia murders. At the prison gate in the Quaker City he says he was met by a man who took him to a house. He remained there for a couple of weeks, but, having no money, was put out. Then he met a man called Frank, who, according to Comparto, is none other than De Massa. He declared that De Massa is a member of the Black Hand, but that he, Comparto, was not. He stated that he was afraid of Frank, whom he had met before, as he had threatened to kill him for appearing as a witness against a member of the Black Hand while in Towanda. This man is now in the Eastern penitentiary as convict No. 3801, he said.

Comparto says he met Frank in Germantown on the morning of September 27, and they had a drink. They wandered around, and about 11:30 in the forenoon drifted into a soloon. They had a drink in it, and when De Massa came out Comparto declares he said:

"We'll have to do something tonight We'll kill a man."

Before 10 o'clock that night, the statement continues, De Massa and Comparto went to the neighborhood of Quinn's saloon and concealed themselves behind a stone wall. Comparto declared that after a few minutes De Massa went over to the saloon, that in a few seconds he heard three shots, and that then De Massa came out with a revolver in each hand and said:

"I have shot one —— —— ——, and there is another shivering on the floor."

They then went away and took a car for Germantown, but Comparto declares he did not go to De Massa's house and did not get any of the money. De Massa said he only got $30. Comparto then declares he took a trolley car and went to Seventh and Christian streets, where he slept on the steps of a saloon all night.

De Massa is a married man, and his wife is now on the ocean on her way to this country. When she arrives in a few days she will find her husband in prison. The man was traced to Jersey City, the Philadelphia detectives say, through the very money which was stolen from the saloon and which was sent to Italy to pay for his wife's passage here.

Story Confirmed.

Comparto's confession has been confirmed to such an extent, that the Philadelphia police are certain they have the right men in Comparto and De Massa.

Black Hand in Towanda.

Comparto's story recalls the fact that during several Italian trials in the Bradford county courts a few years ago the Black Hand was very active, and several prominent people here received letters threatening them if they assisted in convicting the defendants.

Easter Sunday Murder.

Chief Miller is now thoroughly convinced that De Massa, or "Frank" as he was known here, is the man who shot and fatally wounded the Italian at East Towanda on the evening of Easter Sunday, 1907.

The speaker for the rally service in the afternoon and in the evening will be Rev. DeWitt Thompson of Syracuse.

Beginning with Monday evening, Nov. 1, Miss Mary Moore of Syracuse, will conduct a series of evangelistic services for two weeks.

TURNED HIM DOWN.

Waverly Youth Gets Cute Reply From Girl He Would Marry.

A happy-go-lucky young man of Waverly, a few days ago according to the Free-Press Record, bought a pair of overalls and in it found the name of the factory girl who had built and jointed the garment. He wrote and made an offer of marriage. The following delightful letter contains the reply he received

"I am a working girl, it is true but I make a good living and I do not care to support a husband, as I would probably have to do, if I married some silly noodle who gets mashed on a girl he never saw. Permit me further to say that I do not know how my card got into that pair of overalls, but when I do marry, if ever, it will be to some fellow who can afford something better than a forty-seven cent pair of breeches."

A. O. H. Had Good Time.

A committee of A. O. H. members after much careful planning, delightfully entered the members of the order in A. O. H. hall on Friday evening. The amusements were euchre, dancing and musical numbers. Forty couple contested for the euchre prizes which were very pretty. After the eucher a musical entertainment was given, in which more than ordinary talent was displayed. Songs of Ireland and America were beautifully rendered, adding to the pleasures of the evening. Nice refrshmnts were served by members ofthe Ladies Auxilliary, after which the guests enjoyed a program of dances. Some of the older guests showed the younger people how they danced the jigs and reels in the "good old times," wnining hearty applause. The committee of arrangements received great praise for the completeness of the entertainment the gusts voting it th most enjoyable occasion in the history of the local branch of the A. O. H.

President Thomas Is Optimistic.

E. B. Thomas, president of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company says that the merchandise and passenger traffic of the company at the present time is very satisfactory, being fully as good as in the record year of 1907. In regard to the recent advance of Lehigh Valley stock, Mr. Thomas said that he had no knowledge of the inception or purpose of the buying; that while it was gratifying to the management to see the stock in demand he was only an operating head and knew nothing of the market movement of the stock.

Defendant's Attorneys to Blame.

"It has never been the fault of the Commonwealth that the State Capitol trials did not proceed one after the other," said Attorney General Todd. "We have at all times been ready, but attorneys for the defense have had other engagements, and of course the Court is busy, and could not always give our cases the right of way. We are prepared, however, to proceed with the trial of Architect Huston whenever the District Attorney and counsel for the defense can agree on a date. It is up to them."

ULSTER HISTORY WAS FEATURED

At October Meeting of the Bradford County Historical Society.

PRESIDENT PUTNAM NAMES COMMITTEES

Miss Emma Wells Read Interesting Paper on Moravian Missions in Ulster Years Ago—Another Meeting of This Kind Will be Held.

The regular monthly meeting of the Bradford County Historical Society was held on Saturday, with about 50 members in attendance. President Herbert S. Putnam was in the chair. "Ulster's History" was the topic of the meeting.

Editor C. F. Heverly, the well known historian, welcomed the people in attendance at the meeting, and read a very interesting paper, giving the early history of Ulster. H. W. Rockwell of Ulster, responded, and gave an interesting talk on Ulster as he knows it. He displayed a deed for some property in Ulster which was executed in 1808. The deed is written on sheepskin, and is a very interesting relic of "ye olden times." The document was made out to Adrial Simons by parties living in Philadelphia at the time.

Miss Emma Wells was next on the program, and read a brief, but very good paper on the Moravian Missions of Ulster township. Through a misunderstanding of the date of the Ulster meeting of the Society, Miss Wells did not have her paper fully prepared, and it was decided to have another Ulster meeting at which time she will tell more of the early mission work, and a number of Ulster people will be invited to participate in the program.

John A. Biles gave a talk on the organization of Ulster township in 1797 which proved very interesting. C. F. Heverly then spoke at considerable length, telling in an interesting way of the vast changes in Ulster and Sheshequin. Years ago before the railroad and canal, where Ulster now stands was a very important point there being quite a settlement and much trading. Later on the Gores crossed the river and set up their homes, and Sheshequin forged ahead as the most important point. Then came the canal and later the railroad, and now Ulster has "come back," and again ranks ahead of Sheshequin.

Dr. E. D. Payne told of the trip of a pioneer from Asylum up the river to Ulster, and of stopping with a man named Tracy, who at that time owned a plantation of 500 acres which was valued at about $10.50 an acre. J. C. Ingham, Esq., recalled an incident of early days at Ulster, in which Edward Overton, father of the late Colonel Edward Overton of Towanda, was driving along a narrow road overlooking the river and was stopped by a cart loaded with goods. He could not get by, and after a time, ran the obstruction over the bank and into the river. Arriving home, he told of his delay and the cause thereof, ending with the statement that he had run the obstructing cart and its load into the river, only to learn to his sorrow that it belonged to his father.

President Putnam appointed the following committee to endeavor to secure a portrait of the late Judge William Elwell: G. T. Ingham, D. J. Sweet and O. L. Smiley.

The president announced the following standing committees for the year:

Finance—Dr. E. D. Payne, Col. E. J. Ayers and C. L. Stewart.

Library and Museum—A. T. Lilley, A. C. Fanning and J. A. Biles.

Publication—J. A. Wilt, C. F. Heverly and Hon. George Moscrip.

Membership—I. McPherson, G. T. Ingham and Mrs. M. E. Rosenfield.

Special committees:

Nature Study—A. T. Lilley, J. A. Biles and W. H. McCraney.

To arrange program of work of society for year, the committee shall consist of the president, vice president, secretaries, librarian, former president, J. C. Ingham and A. H. Kingsbury.

Jesse L. Ellsworth of Wyalusing, and Herbert Landon of Herrick, were elected members of the Society.

York State Wants Farmers.

Says the Binghamton Herald: "As a result of his tour of the abandoned farms in New York State with Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and Secretary of Commerce Powderly, Congressman Dwight, according to announcement, is preparing a bill to be introduced in congress to provide measures whereby farmers may be attracted to New York State to take up the abandoned farms which Secretary Wilson says are among the best in the nation."

DR. C. HENRI LANE INVENTS OXYGEN MACHINE.

Towandian Will Furnish Doctors of This Section With Breath of Life.

Dr. C. Henri Lane, one of Towanda's best known citizens, who has gained considerable fame by his discovery of a certain cure for liquor, opium and morphine habits, has now invented a machine for the manufacture or oxygen, which is coming into great use among the physicians.

Dr. Lane made a model of the machine, according to his own ideas, and sent it to a firm in Cleveland, Ohio. Last week he received a machine built according to the model, and tests made with it prove that it is better than his fondest anticipations. It has a capacity of 500 cubic feet of pure oxygen an hour, at a cost of less than half what it formerly cost to manufacture.

It is Dr. Lane's intentions to keep the machine, and furnish physicians of this section with oxygen free of charge. There has been no machine for the manufacture of oxygen in this part of the country, the physicians being compelled to send to distant cities at a great cost. Oxygen has been the means of saving many lives, and is coming into general use where a patient's respiration is very weak.

LANDMARK DESTROYED.

House on McKinney Farm in Litchfield Township Burned.

The house on the farm of C. E. McKinney in Litchfield township directly east of Athens borough, was burned to the ground Friday midnight. The origin of the fire is unknown. No one was living in the house, the tenants having moved out about two weeks ago.

The house was an old landmark, and was known as the McKinney homestead. It was built by the father of C. E. McKinney of Athens, the present owner of the farm.

Sensational Trespass Suit.

A sensational trespass suit was instituted Friday at Wilkes-Barre when Mrs. Alivin C. Caruth, of Wilkes-Barre, commenced proceedings against her husband's parents and sister, alleging that they had alienated the affections of her husband from her. She asks $25,000 damages. The statement sets forth that the woman was but 19 years old when married and that she went to live with her husband's parents. Shortly after the birth of a child, she was refused admittance to the Caruth home and since that time, the defendants have kept her husband from her and deprived her of his affections and a home.

NINETEEN BUSHELS PER ACRE.

In many sections of the oat belt there has been a marked deterioration in the oat yield during the past two or three years, and so pronounced has this been that a comment or two touching the situation may be worth while. The low yield of this year seems in part due to poor seed, but possibly in larger measure to the fact that the grain was not sown with the disk drill, as it should have been, but was broadcasted in a slack and slovenly manner, with the result that the stand was very poor. Contributing to this result is another factor that is even more fundamental—namely, a gradual depletion of the soil by an improper method of tillage to the point where it is not capable of producing a satisfactory yield. In a list of some twenty men whose thrashing returns were reported to the writer recently the average yield was but nineteen bushels to the acre, the lowest being eleven bushels and the highest thirty-five and one-half bushels, or over three times as much. The farm which produced the eleven bushel yield has been systematically skinned for years past. The one which gave thirty-five and one-half bushels has raised much stock and its fertility kept up by feeding most of the products of the farm on the farm. Nineteen bushels to the acre, and that in a section where oats in the past have yielded as high as sixty and seventy bushels, shows a state of affairs which farmers individually and collectively may well be looking into. How long is it going to take for agriculturists to learn that they can't keep subtracting from the soil principal each year without replacing it with fertilizers and still continue taking from it the same interest returns in the shape of crop yields?

BUTTER FAT PRICES.

A community not far from where the writer lives has had an experience of late in the matter of prices received for cream sent to centralizer and local creameries that ought to offer a suggestion to dairymen who may be led to desert the home creamery because of higher prices offered temporarily by the centralizer plant for the purpose of killing competition. During the latter part of August, the time when the comparison of prices was made, a local creamery was paying 28½ cents per pound for butter fat, while the centralizer stations in towns less than forty miles away were paying but 22 cents, a difference of 6½ cents per pound. Were the conditions under which cream is marketed in the country investigated a like discrepancy in price would quite likely be found to exist. Of course the centralizer plant often pays a higher price than the local co-operative or private creamery, but it is only for the purpose of running such opponents out of business. When they have matters in their own hands they pay as little as they please and let disgruntled patrons whistle if they aren't satisfied with the size of their monthly cream checks.

POINTS TO CONSIDER.

While the temptation is often great to buy lumber and building supplies direct from house wrecking or catalogue lumber houses, owing to what seem like exorbitant prices charged by the home dealer, it is well to take one or two things into account before doing so. Much of this catalogue stuff is job lots—that is, inferior and often secondhand or second grade material—crooked, knotty and badly checked. When one buys a carload of this stock the per cent of poor stuff is usually large; but, whether large or small, the buyer has it on his hands and cannot return it as he may if he buys of the home dealer. Hence he should figure this in as a portion of the cost price along with freight charges, which are often left out of the count when a comparison of home and foreign lumber prices is made. Wherever one finally decides to make his purchase, it will be to his own interest as well as fair to the home dealer to figure with him, making a careful comparison of prices, quality, etc.

QUEER BUSINESS.

A lot of supposedly honest and respectable people in some sections seem to consider a neighboring orchard as semi-public property and raid it without compunction whenever the fit takes them. These people may not realize that it costs the owner just as much to prune and spray his trees and till the ground as it does his neighbor to care for a corn, potato or small grain crop. Yet these same folks would consider it mighty queer business—stealing—if the orchard owner should go into their fields, husk and make off with a sack of corn or dig and appropriate a bushel of potatoes. The proposition is just as broad as it is long, and the ethics involved make no distinction between a crop that grows on trees and that produced on stalks or vines.

The Giant is the largest tree in the Santa Cruz grove of big trees. It is sixty-five feet in circumference at the base and is 30 feet high, with seventy-five feet of the top broken off. The age of the tree is uncertain, but it is placed by scientists at between 3,000 and 5,000 years.

Not honest failure, ill health, financial reverse or any other external contingency has in it the power to completely dull the brightness of the sun, take pink from dawn or sunset, extinguish the zest and worth of living, but only sin and wrongdoing. This is a simple truth the force of which is all too often little appreciated, yet one that is given everyday proof.

It was supposed at the time of the enactment of the Payne tariff bill that the eight cent duty which was placed on imported lemons would add that much to the returns of the lemon growers of the country, which, if the reports are true, have not been flourishing in an entirely satisfactory way. But this consummation is not to be, as the transcontinental roads have within a few weeks raised the rate on lemons, which will just about consume the 8 cents in question, leaving the grower where he was before, with the public mulcted what, it is alleged, will be $10,000,000 a year and this snug sum stuck into the coffers of the transportation companies. Thus the lemon duty bids fair in very earnest to be another "lemon" which was handed the dear people in the recently enacted and much cussed and discussed tariff bill. The lemon growers will undoubtedly contest the prospective rate increase, but it is hardly likely that their protest will avail them anything.

Swept Over Niagara.

This terrible calamity often happens because a careless boatman ignores the river's warnings—growing ripples and faster current—Nature's warnings are kind. That dull pain or ache in the back warns you the Kidneys need attention if you would escape fatal maladies—Dropsy, Diabetes or Bright's disease. Take Electric Bitters at once and see Backache fly and all your best feelings return. "After long suffering from weak kidneys and lame back, one $1.00 bottle wholly cured me," writes J. R. Blankenship of Belk, Tenn. Only 50c at Turner's Drug Store.

Who Really Discovered the Pole ?

A few weeks ago the public was surprised to learn that the North Pole had been discovered, and the two different American expeditions were claiming the credit. If either proves authentic then the United States will take the credit for the successful termination of a quest that covered many years and in which hundreds of lives have been sacrificed. Another great American victory was made 56 years ago when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters was first presented to the public and its success since then has been so pronounced that it has become known as the great American Remedy for such ailments as Loss of Appetite, Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Bloating, Heartburn, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Biliousness, General Weakness, Colds, Grippe and Malaria, Fever and Ague. It is good for any member of the family.

Forced Farmers to Do It.

"No trespass" notices are up on many farms in Bradford county, and hunters are notified to keep off. Many hunters complain bitterly about the "avaricious farmers" who will not let them even cross their fields to get into a piece of woods that is not posted. The hunter is merely paying the penalty for the reckless, careless and lawless members of his craft, who, for years, tramped back and forth across the farmers' fields, damaged the grain, tore down his fences, stole his chestnuts and apples, built fires in the dry leaves to roast his green corn, and even shot his chickens and turkeys, to say nothing of an occasional cow. It is too bad that all hunters should be made to suffer for the careless, but such is the fact, and the farmer cannot be blamed Going Out of Business.

An advertisement on page seven of today's paper tells the story more fully.

Ballots Are Heavy.

The large size of the ballots for the coming November election, and the new ruling of the State department that seventy-five additional ballots must be sent to each polling place for every 100 registered voters, will make the bundles to be delivered to the various election districts so heavy that wagons will be necessary in all cases. Formerly these bundles could be carried to certain districts, but owing to the extra weight the commissioners will be obliged to pay more for the delivery of the ballots this year.

In the fastest game of basket ball ever played at New Albany, the five tossers of that place on Friday evening defeated the strong Camptown team by the score of 25—19. This makes a game a piece for these two teams, Editor Taylor of the Mirror, declared that the New Albany team can defeat any basket ball aggregation in the county

NOVEMBER MAGAZINES.

The Century.

One of the most interesting athletic articles ever published is Walter Camp's version of football which appears in the November Century. Mr. Camp is the father of football, and he tells of the physical and mental development produced in the individual player is not all that may be cited in its support. Those who look beneath the surface find in football in the United States something to supply that lack of rigid discipline for which the American youth, except possibly at West Point, and Annapolis, suffer in comparison with those of other peoples. Not only does the rigid training establish self-control in those who play, but the game holds up a standard of discipline to those who observe it. And it must be admitted that this side of the argument is a strong one, while the fact that it offers almost the ideal measure of effort followed by immediate relaxation renders it far less a tax on the vital organs than the majority of our contests. As it invoives personal physical contact, it always will be a strenuous sport appealing to the vigorous, healthy boy.

The St. Nicholas.

The November number of the St. Nicholas magazine is the first of a new volume, and has the following list of good things:

The Refugees, the strange tale of Nether Hall, by Captain Charles Gilson.

The Young Railroaders, a series of tales of adventure, by F. Lovell Coombs.

A Thanksgiving Feast, the first of a new series of "Betty" stories, by Carblyn Wells.

Books and Reading, a new department, by Hildegarde Hawthorne.

These all are features which will continue through the new year; and there will be also a new serial story of American school life by Ralph Henry Barbour, and a series of jolly rhymes and verses by Ruth McEnery Stuart. The programme for the new magazine year, given in part in the November number, promises an unusually rich and varied and delightful feast.

Inasmuch as the farm lies partly in this county and partly in Bradford, he could levy only upon that portion lying within his jurisdiction. He also, before selling, was obliged to appoint a jury of twelve men, whose duty it is to hold an inquisition and ascertain whether that portion of the land can be sold without prejudice to the sale of the portion lying in Bradford, or to the interests of the defendant or any of his creditors.—Tunkhannock New Age.

MUST MAKE RETURNS ON PERSONAL PROPERTY.

Taxpayers Are Liable to a Penalty if They Do Not Comply.

There seems to be an understanding among some taxpayers that they are not required to take notice of the personal property papers which have been left with them by the assessors. The law provides within ten days from the date of service of this paper the tax payer shall make a sworn statement of his property which is subject to taxation. In default of such return the assessor is required to make out an estimated return and the county commissioners may add a penalty of fifty per cent., in accordance with an act of assembly.

Somebody appears to have been advising some taxpayers that it is not necessary to make this return. The assessors, however, will insist that proper returns be made or they will make estimates and return the same to the county commissioners. While the making out of the return may involve some inconvenience it will be much cheaper in the end than it will be to pay taxes on property which has no existence.

Taxpayers should understand and not be misled by persons who have no knowledge of the matter.

Ellsworth Gooding of Hornbrook, comes to the front with the largest potatoes yet exhibited in Towanda. Twenty-seven of these potatoes make a bushel. Four of these potatoes weighed ten pounds, and ten pounds of seed produce eight bushels, or at the rate of 48 bushels to one bushel of seed.

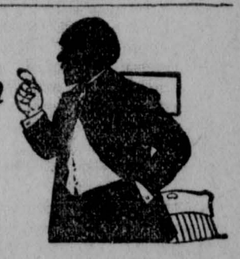
Woman's Power Over Man



Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R.V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

JUSTICE OF THE SUPREME COURT
Judge Robert von Moschzisker, of Philadelphia.

AUDITOR GENERAL,
A. E. Sisson of Erie.

STATE TREASURER,
Jeremiah A. Stober of Lancaster.

JURY COMMISSIONER,
A. C. McGovern of Athens.

YOUR DUTY NEXT TUESDAY.

It ought not to be necessary to remind the Republicans of Pennsylvania of their duty on Nov. 2. But the large majorities this State has recorded for the Republican ticket have made thousands of voters careless. They are stalwart Republicans, and when they go to the polls they vote a straight ticket. They are not indifferent to party success; they merely take the election of the Republican ticket for granted and do not go to the trouble of voting. State Chairman Andrews a few days ago warned Republican against over-confidence. He referred to the axiom of warfare that an army constantly must be on guard and appealed to every Republican to cast his vote.

The voter should respond to this appeal. No better candidates have ever been presented to the people of this State that A. E. Sisson, J. A. Stober and Robert Moschzisker. They possess exceptional qualifications for the offices for which they are nominated. They should not merely be elected; they should receive an overwhelming majority, for they are worthy of such a majority. The Democrats will endeavor to poll their full party vote. A reduced majority for the Republiacn ticket will encourage the Democracy in its hope of electing a Democrat the successor of Governor Stuart next year, and an increased representation in the Legislature and in Congress. Pennsylvania should take no backward step. Last year it gave the Republican national ticket a larger majority than any other State. That majority should be followed by another overwhelming majority this year. The Keystone State's title to the position at the head of the Republican column should remain unquestioned.

There is another reason why the Republican ticket this year should be elected by a record-breaking off-year majority. Within the past few days the newspapers have printed dispatches from the West, telling of the plans of the low-tariff advocates to renew vigorously at the next session of Congress their agitation for "progressive" tariff revision. That is precisely the sort of tariff revision Pennsylvania does not want. The people of this State will have litle patience with the effort of the LaFollette school of statesmen to kep alive tariff agitation. The Payne law re-establishes the protective system and it is restoring prosperity. Every voter should join in an indorsement of the party that enacted it. By electing the Republican ticket by an impressive majority Pennsylvania will emphasize the fact that it demands the maintenance of the tariff policy, which has made it the greatest industrial State in the Union.

THE OFF-YEAR.

If you are a Republican vote the Republican ticket. It is the off-year, and the Democrats are counting on that fact and are making unusual efforts to at least seriously diminish the normal Republican majority in the State. They figure it in this way:

It is the off-year, and many Republicans, feeling secure in the usual heavy Republican majorities, are apathetic and over-confident, and will not go to the polls. Now is our chance. We will close up the ranks, not have any off-year on our side, and instead poll the full party vote and perhaps win out." That is their game, and it is a good one if they can make it work. But we believe the Republicans of the state are onto it, and will retaliate by also throwing overboard the usual off-year indifference and will likewise poll the full party vote. This is all that is necessary in order to win. We trust the Republicans of Bradford county will do their share.

The Philadelphia Record in a headline says "Munson expects to win." Some one has been stuffing the Record about Mr. Munson, or stuffing Mr. Munson about himself, for Mr. Munson won't win and you "may tell your folks" to that effect.

It is never too late to mend, says the proverb, but one minute after seven p. m. on Tuesday next will be too late to vote. Go to the polls early.

MAKE THE MAJORITY LARGE.

A large Republican majority this year is essential, and only over-confidence will prevent it. A reduced majority would be most unfortunate. It would not be a satisfactory or proper expression of the confidence the people have in Governor Stuart, and it would stimulate the Democracy to greater effort next year. There is not the slightest doubt of the election of the entire ticket. The only thing to be feared is over-confidence, bred by large Republican majorities in the past and the fact that they can generally be relied on. Pennsylvania is so strongly Republican that the adherents of that party have fallen into the habit of thinking and believing that "everything is coming our way," and that the whole ticket will be chosen. It generally is, but occasionally it isn't, and when it isn't it is apt to be that Republican voters have taken things for granted and have not exerted themselves as they should. Let a warning to the Republican voters of Bradford county as to the dangers of overconfidence be sufficient. Let every man of them be at the polls early and cast his vote.

As to the State ticket, much can be said for it and nothing against it. The men on it have served the public in the past and their honesty and ability have not been questioned. They are without exception candidates worthy of the support of honest men, of citizens seeking their State's highest interests. They should have the endorsement at the polls of the party's entire voting strength. The sole candidate for a county office—A. C. McGovern of Athens, for jury commissioner, should have and will receive the united support of Bradford county Republicans.

ON TUESDAY NEXT.

Pennsylvania is surely one of the chief sponsors for the Payne tariff bill passed at the special session of congress last summer. No state was more conspicuous than she in the enactment of the bill, and no congressional delegation resented more effectively and strenuously than did that of Pennsylvania the intrusion of false economic theories as a substitute for the protective tariff doctrine. From no other state was there a more urgent demand for the continuance of the protective system, and Pennsylvania will be the chief beneficiary of the new rates. Pennsylvania is and always has been for a protective tariff because in her great and varied manufacturing and industrial interests she needs it. Congress passed the bill and this state got what she wanted, and now it is incumbent on the Republicans of the state to endorse the party's and the national administration's course at the election next Tuesday—the first to be held since the Payne measure became a law. Failure to do this would be most unfortunate, and the more hearty and emphatic the endorsement is the better. We hope all Bradford county Republicans are mindful of their obligations in this matter. Every Republican in the county should say by his vote on Tuesday next that congress and President Taft did right on the tariff. Let the vote be a large one. Pennsylvania, of all states, should give no uncertain sound.

The Bradford Star informed the public but once (and that once way back last summer) that "if the other counties will do half what Bradford will, he (Kipp) will be elected by a large majority." There has been nothing doing in the way of prophesy about the Bradford county vote in the Star since. Once was enough, and we are not surprised that the two Towanda Democratic newspapers, the twinkling Star and the ancient Argus, have turned their backs and shut their eyes on county matters, and have shown a desire to talk about something else. Mr. Kipp will not carry Bradford county.

Remember that the constitutional amendments, if ratified at the polls next Tuesday, will effect a cash saving to the taxpayers of Bradford county by doing away with one election a year—that of February. The amount saved will approximate $2,600—$1,400 to the county and $1,200 to the townships. It is surely worth while to cut off this expense, and this economical feature should make the proposed amendments popular. We have no doubt the promised economies will commend the amendments to the voters, and we predict that all of them, save perhaps the seventh, will be passed.

Judge von Moschzisker, the Republican candidate for judge of the supreme court, has proved an exceptionally strong candidate, and will run splendidly in this section notwithstanding Mr. Munson, the Democratic candidate, is a resident of this part of the State and is making a great effort to poll a large vote hereabouts. As a jurist the Republican candidate stands in the front rank in Pennsylvania. He should receive the vote of every Republican in Bradford county.

You should not be any less a Republican in an off-year than in an on-year, or any other year. An off-year is one that gives Pennsylvania Democrats their chance.

There are other approved ways of attesting your loyalty to your country or your government, than voting, but there is none better on election day.

Next Tuesday, November 2, will be the day on which every good citizen will prove his citizenship by casting his vote.

Go to the polls on Tuesday next.

PENNSYLVANIA'S DUTY.

The closing week of the campaign finds the Republicans of Pennsylvania looking confidently forward to a sweeping Republican majority on Nov. 2. Many Republican newspapers and speakers have placed emphasis upon the fact that the result of the elections will be of more than State significance, that it will be of national importance. State Chairman Andrews thus sizes up the situation:

"The Republicans of Pennsylvania recognize that any failure on their part to score a handsome majority would be accepted by the ultra-revisionists of the Middle West as evidence that the people of Pennsylvania are not particularly interested in the protective system. Therefore, it may be expected that the candidates on the Republican ticket will be elected by a record-breaking off-year majority."

The enactment of the Payne protective tariff law is bringing prosperity to the wage earner, the farmer, the business man and in fact, to all classes of persons in this State. It is Republican legislation, and as Pennsylvania will be the principal beneficiary under the new tariff rates, it should be the first State to indorse by an overwhelming majority for the Republican ticket the work of the Republican majority in the sixty-first Congress. The election of the Republican candidates will not be sufficient. The voters must make the majority so large that it will be impressive. Reports, received by Chairman Andrews and his associates in the direction of the campaign, indicate that they may do this. Every man in Pennsylvania who believes in the policy of a protective tariff should cast his ballot for the straight Republican ticket.

THE WAY TO GET IT.

At this juncture of affairs it is opportune to remark that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, and the inevitable deduction from this sage saying is that if you haven't got the price, or what is worse, if you have got it, but are not willing to pay it, you can't have the goods. If you are a Republican and want your party to win, if you desire that the government of Pennsylvania shall be in the hands of Republicans, if you wish to endorse the action of your party and president last spring and summer in passing a tariff bill, if you as a Republican wish to record the fact that you are in favor of a protective tariff—the policy which has done so much for Pennsylvania, in fact if your yearnings politically extend no farther or have no more definite form than a general hankering to thrash the Democrats, go to the polls on Tuesday next and vote the Republican ticket. You can't have these things by simply wishing for them. You will have to fight for them and vote for them—perhaps fight for the chance to vote for them, and vote for the chance to fight for them. Eternal vigilance, etc., as we remarked above. There is no other way.

If your government were at war you would be expected to help defend and preserve it. The president would issue a call for volunteers, or you might be drafted. In a sense the government is always at war, and the enemy is that known and dreaded danger sometimes styled General Apathy, and it may be said that General Apathy has first and last won many battles. But he can be licked, and it is both hard and easy to do it—easy if the troops will but enlist, but hard to get them to enlist. The foe whom General Apathy cannot withstand, before whom he is powerless, is the individual voter bent on having the best government possible and determined to do all in his power to secure it. He is the man who is invincible, who can have what he wants if he will only demand it. When fully aroused he has never been defeated, never been successfully withstood. He is "the whole thing," but often don't seem to know it. The difficult task is to keep him awake,—he is not reliable on picket duty. He is essential, and absolutely necessary to safety, the country would go to smash without him, and, dreadful to think of, he is often a sleeping sentinel. Go to the polls and vote on Tuesday next.

The late Edward Everett Hale chaplain of the United States senate who died but a short time since, wrote an eloquent and forceful short story many years ago, the title of which was "A Man Without a Country." It was one of the best thing he ever did with his pen, and was read by multitudes. There are various ways of losing one's country and one of them, by which many suffer, is to abandon one's franchise. The man who has lost his desire to vote is a man without a country. Let every Republican vote on Tuesday next. Vote for all of the Republican candidates, and for all of the constitutional amendments except the seventh

We do raise some good potato crops in this county of Bradford. Our news columns last week told about a Wyalusing man raising 51½ bushels on one-eighth of an acre, and this would figure up to 412 bushels to an acre, and the quality, it is claimed, is fine. This will do.

The "ticket as arranged by Boss Guffey" will be so badly disarranged on Tuesday next that the Boss himself won't know it.

The man who don't care to vote shouldn't have the right to vote. Go to the polls on Tuesday next.

ANDREWS SOUNDS NOTE OF WARNING

Republicans Told of Danger of Over-Confidence.

DEMOCRATS ON STILL HUNT

Seeking Complimentary Votes For Nominee For Supreme Bench and Banking Upon a Small Poll by Majority Party.

[Special Correspondence.]

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.

Colonel Wesley R. Andrews, chairman of the Republican state committee, today sounded a note of warning to the Republicans of Pennsylvania.

He made it clear that he expects every Republican voter in this state to do his duty on Nov. 2.

With election day only about one week off the state chairman insists that there must be a lining up of the Republican forces in every county if the Republican ticket is to be elected, as it ought to be, by an overwhelming majority. Since early in September Chairman Andrews, from the headquarters of the Republican state committee in this city, has been directing an aggressive campaign. Not that the Republican ticket is in danger; it is not. But many Republicans of Pennsylvania frequently take Republican success for granted and make no especial effort to go to the polls.

It was this danger of over-confidence that Colonel Andrews had in mind today.

"Pennsylvania is the banner Republican state; we have the votes, and to poll the right kind of majority it is only necessary for the voters to cast their ballots," said the chairman. "Many Republicans in an off-year like this, when there is no particular excitement, proceed upon the theory that the rest of the party will vote and thus insure the election of the ticket. Now it is an axiom of warfare that an army must constantly be on guard. I want to warn the Republicans of this state against the 'last card' in politics. They should see that Democratic effort does not threaten Republican success.

"The Republican party has a splendid ticket. A better one has never been offered the people of Pennsylvania. A. E. Sisson and J. A. Stober are able and experienced men; they have records that commend them to the people, and they are public spirited citizens. They will contribute their full share to a continuance of good government in this commonwealth.

The Judicial Canvass.

"Judge Robert von Moschzisker will make a great supreme court justice. He has a splendid record as a common pleas pudge; he is known to the lawyers of the state as one of the ablest members of the Pennsylvania bar, and he has the confidence of all of the people. Not a syllable has been uttered against him since his nomination. His qualifications for the supreme bench are conceded by everybody. He ought to be elected by a tremendous majority. His Democratic opponent, Mr. Munson, is presenting this state with a spectacle it has never before witnessed. He is the only candidate for a high judicial office, who, in his eagerness for election, has so far overlooked the proprieties as to make a personal and compromising campaign for votes. He is now on a campaign tour, meeting the voters and making what are nothing more nor less than ordinary stump speeches. In Williamsport he maintains a large literary bureau, which has sent out thousands of documents and letters, in which he asks the voters to support him as a non-partisan candidate. He has adopted the endless chain system of letter writing and by this means hopes to reach every voter in the state.

"The old-fashioned idea that judicial office should seek the man and not the man seek the office manifestly has no place in the Democratic candidate's plan of politics. I do not believe many Republicans will entertain for a moment the proposition that they vote for a Democratic candidate for the supreme court.

"Mr. Munson's conduct in the campaign illustrates his conception of the dignity of the highest judicial tribunal in this commonwealth. Judge von Moschzisker has taken no part whatever in the campaign. He has asked no one to vote for him. He will take his seat on the supreme bench without having violated its sacred traditions.

National and State Issues.

"As I have repeatedly said, the elections in Pennsylvania this year are of national importance. A failure of the Republicans of the Keystone State to score a handsome majority would be accepted by the low tariff revisionists of the middle west as evidence that our people are not particularly interested in the protective system.

"A reduced majority will furnish an impetus to agitation for a lowering of the tariff rates. Pennsylvania is satisfied with the new tariff law because it is bringing prosperity. It should be the first state to record its indorsement of that legislation.

"There is another and very sound reason why the Republicans of the Keystone State should poll an unprecedented off-year majority at the coming election. Next year we must elect Governor Stuart's successor and other state officials, a new legislature that will elect Senator Oliver's successor, and a congressional delegation. A re[illegible] in November would not only be a backward step; it would encourage the Democracy and inspire it with hope of success in 1910.

"The Republican party in Pennsylvania has never been in better condition than it is today. But, as I have said, it is necessary that every Republican do his duty on Nov. 2."

CHEAP POLITICS IN JUDICIAL FIGHT

Democratic Aspirant For Supreme Bench Condemned.

CAMPAIGN TRICKS TO REACT

Unprecedented and Undignified Course of Candidate For Highest Court In the Commonwealth Severely Criticised.

[Special Correspondence.]

Harrisburg, Oct. 26.

The visit here last week of C. LaRue Munson, the Democratic nominee for the supreme bench, on his campaigning tour of the state, gave members of the bar and others an opportunity of verifying the reports regarding Mr. Munson's political methods and his utter disregard of the proprieties and complete lack of appreciation of the dignity of the office to which he aspires.

No candidate for ward constable could do more than has been daily exhibited by this aspirant for a seat in the highest court of the commonwealth.

Upon his visit here Mr. Munson made his headquarters at one of the hotels. He evidently expected a number of the Republican members of the bar to at least call upon him, but in this he was sorely disappointed. His coming had been heralded in advance and every effort possible was made by Democratic politicians who are engineering the canvass for Mr. Munson to persuade Republican members of the legal profession to "pay their respects" to the gentleman from Williamsport.

Republicans Wideawake.

But Republicans were not caught napping. They did not give the Democratic candidate an opportunity to exploit his "non-partisan" campaign game, and they left him alone with his Democratic contingent, which was but a corporal's guard.

An enormous sum of money is being spent to promote Mr. Munson's candidacy.

Where it is coming from Republicans can only surmise.

The fact that Mr. Munson has among his clients a number of powerful corporations has been accentuated since he started out on his hunt for votes, and the mails have been flooded with tons of expensive campaign literature exploiting his candidacy and attacking his Republican opponent.

Misleading post cards give a map of Pennsylvania, so marked as to create the impression that the incumbents on the supreme bench come from but a small section of the state, have been circulated by the thousands. If upon these very maps lines are drawn from north to south it will be shown that the state will be blocked off so that every section will have a representative on the supreme court.

Cheap Game to Catch Votes.

Justices of the supreme court are not representatives of counties or districts. Each justice represents the whole state, and local lines have nothing to do with it.

It would be just as reasonable and just as correct to argue that a much larger portion of the commonwealth has no representation in the executive branch of the state government. There is but one governor, and of necessity he resides in one of the sixty-nine counties. Shall it then be argued that the other sixty-eight counties have no representation in the office of the governor? The friends of Mr. Munson ought to call in those campaign documents. They may do him harm by giving the impression that he is making his canvass on the platform of local repreesntation in the supreme court. This would be both illegal and illogical.

But attempts to catch votes by such tactics simply emphasizes the undignified and puerile character of the canvass being made by Mr. Munson and his political associates.

In the selection of men for the supreme bench geographical considerations are of minor moment.

Men of judicial temperament, of knowledge of the law, of known character and integrity and of keen appreciation of the dignity of the high office and of its grave and serious responsibilities are wanted by the people.

Judge Robert von Moschzisker, the Republican nominee, is just such a man.

As a loyal and patriotic citizen, as an able lawyer and as a tried and capable judge, he has shown his fitness for the honorable position for which he has been named.

His attitude in absolutely holding aloof from the political campaign has been the subject of favorable comment upon every hand, when contrasted with the political campaigning of his opponent.

Grafting alfalfa roots on roots of the strawberry vine is the method by which an Oregon rancher claims to have produced three crops of berries in a season. The long alfalfa roots reach the moisture in the soil even in the driest summer. There is a hint for our strawberry raisers, inasmuch as the dry summer which has passed may not be the only one to visit us.

FOREST RANGERS NEEDED.

The demand for men to patrol and protect Uncle Sam's 105,000,000 acres of National forest area in the West has been greater this year than ever before, and 500 young men will be appointed as forest rangers this year. These appointments will be made from the successful candidates in the Civil Service examination for forest ranger which will be held in every State and territory in the United States on Oct. 25 and 26.

The entrance salary of a ranger is $900 per annum with the chance to increase to $1,400 as ability is demonstrated. A most encouraging fact, not to be overlooked, is that the ranger has the opportunity to advance to the highest position in the service In many instances forest supervisors, the highest positions on the National forests, have entered the service as rangers or guards and have risen by good work to the positions which they now occupy.

BUTTERMAKERS WANT BETTER OLEO LAWS.

Department of Agriculture and State Grange Working Together.

The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, the Pennsylvania State Grange and the Pure Butter Protective Association are working unitedly to secure signers to petitions which will be sent to President Taft and Senators Penrose and Oliver requesting their support in the effort to secure a more satisfactory oleomargarine law. The letters to the Senators set forth the following:

"Certain federal laws which govern the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine should be amended in order that the great dairy interests of the country as well as consumers shall be adequately safeguarded from the illegal substitution and sale of this commodity for genuine butter.

"I am not opposed to the legal manufacture and sale of oleomargarine, but I do object to the sale of this product for butter. I earnestly request that you will assist, by your vote and influence at the coming session of the Sixty-first Congress in securing remedial legislation which will properly protect dairymen, farmers, merchants and customers from the fraudulent traffic in oleomargarine and other substitutes for pure butter."

A CLOSE CALL TO DEATH.

Mrs. J. L. Jones Nearly Loses Life While Fording River.

Mrs. J. L. Jones and baby of Terry township, while fording the river opposite J. E. Dodge's to go to Homets Ferry on Tuesday of last week, had a very close call to losing her own life and that of her baby in the deep waters just below the ford, says the Wyalusing Rocket.

Mrs. Jones had driven into the river and when about in the middle the horse became sick and fell down, overturning the buggy and throwing both occupants into the river which was about three feet deep at that place.

The mother immediately grabbed for her baby and succeeded in getting hold of the little one only to lose her hold in the swiftly running water. Three times did she catch the little one, but on the first two times only to have her hold loosened by the rushing waters. The third time she succeeded in getting the baby by the hand and then pulled her from the water and in a short time got both herself and the baby to the shore, both badly strangled by the water but not materially injured. The mother was almost prostrated by the close call to death's door of her child. The horse got up and pulled itself and wagon to shore.

The ford at that place is one of the best in the Susquehanna. The bottom of the river being of gravel and usually the water is about two feet deep and not very rapid. But at that time, the Fall rains had raised the river about a foot and had made the current considerably swifter than usual. A short distance below is the deep water at "Fitzgerald's Tanks" and the Terrytown level—the water being from ten to twenty feet deep even in the dry season.

His 86th Birthday.

The venerable J. W. Ingham of Sugar Run, reached his 86th birthday on Monday last. Mr. Ingham was born in Sugar Run, where he has always lived and where he has been closely identified with the best business, social and educational interests of that community, having in early life been engaged in both lumbering and milling, as well as farming. For a number of years Mr. Ingham has devoted his time to literary matters, his work having been, principally for the Metropolitan press, his subjects embracing a wide range, as his general knowledge of men and things is unlimited. But history, politics and agriculture are those on which he principally writes. His style is easy, graceful and interesting. He received a number of congratulatory letters, his friends and neighbors wishing him many returns of the day.—Laceyville Messenger.

SCANLON BROTHERS ENGAGE IN THE BAKERY BUSINESS.

Take Over the Manufacturing End of the Spalding Business.

A business deal of considerable importance was consummated in Towanda last week, when Daniel and John Scanlon purchased the baking business of I. P. Spalding. The purchase is of the manufacturing end of the Spalding business, and not the retail. Mr. Spalding at his grocery store at the Corner of Main and Pine streets will continue to handle the output of the bakery, taking and filling orders for all sorts of bake stuff, while the new firm will have charge of the baking, so to the many customers of the Spalding establishment there will be no change in the excellent srevice, Mr. Spalding being the handler of a full line of bake stuff as heretofore.

The Scanlon Brothers are expert bakers, having had many years of experience. They have both worked for Thomas Walsh, the baker, and also for Mr. Spalding. They also worked in the bakery which was conducted for a number of years by Spalding & Smith. Daniel Scanlon has been in charge of a big bakery in New York state for the past few years. Besides supplying Mr. Spalding's big trade, the new firm will in a short time put a sales and delivery wagon on the road. No order too big or too small will be the motto of the new proprietors.

OIL RUMORS.

Prospectors Visit to Western Bradford Revive Interest.

Messrs. W. D. Rose, T. H. Bailey, Tom W. Judge and Walter Baker of Mansfield; A. Kingsbury and Walter Horton of Covington, and W. H. McCarty of Blossburg, all or nearly all, interested in the oil or gass leases written in this locality last year by Mr. Horton, were in town in Mr. Rose's big seven-passenger car.

They dined at the Troy house, and after motored to the old Baker well on the Porter road, from which gas is still escaping, nine years after it was drilled in and shot.

They were not communicative, and, so far as we have been able to learn, offered no stock for sale. While no one saw them drive stakes for a well, it does not follow that drilling is not soon to begin. The location chosen by Mr. Horton is southwest of town.—Troy Gazette-Register.

Newspaper Management Merged

Says the LaPorte News Item: "Owing to ill health and being physically unable to endure the rigorous climate the altitude of Laporte always provides during the winter months, the editor of the News Item will relinquish the management of this paper on Nov. 1, and later in the season seek a milder and more congenial climate within the tropical bounds of Florida. Editor F. L. Taylor of the New Albany Mirror, has arranged to lease the News Item plant, and in connection with the Mirror, will give a supervising eye to the News Item. Only the management of the two papers will be merged. Owing to the convenient communication between the two towns, it is evident that both papers will be benefited conducted under the proposed plan." Publisher Wing could not have found a more capable newspaper man to turn his News-Item plant over to than Brother Taylor of the inimitable Mirror.

MRS. SARAH E. ACKLEY GIVEN A VERDICT FOR $100

Arbitrators Award In Her Favor Against the Prudential.

Attorneys W. E. Lane, A. L. Laws and Hon. E. M. Dunham arbitrators in the case of Mrs. Sarah E. Ackley of Athens vs. the Prudential Insurance company, Thursday made an award in favor of Mrs. Ackley for the sum of $100 with interest from Nov. 7, 1907.

A man in living in Athens carried a policy with the Prudential company, and some time before his death, he was unable to pay the premiums, which were kept up by Mrs. Ackley with the understanding that upon the death of the insured she should receive the amount of the policy, $100. She was not named as the beneficiary in the policy, and upon the death of the insured, the Prudential company, while willing to pay the claim to the stated beneficiary, would not pay it to Mrs. Ackley, unless she was duly authorized to receive it as an administratrix of the estate of the deceased. The case was taken to court and the arbitrators have found in favor of Mrs. Ackley. It is expected that it will be taken before a jury.

Hoyt & Schrier represented the plaintiff, while John C. Ingham, Esq., is attorney for the insurance company.

Rev. A. W. Bloomfield of LeRaysville, was elected secretary and Rev. F. J. Niles of Rome, as corresponding secretary. A number of speeches were made in favor of the plan. MUST BE PAID QUICK.

Auditor General Young Notifies Treasurers of Twenty-Six Counties.

Notices have been sent to the commissioners of 26 counties of Pennsylvania by Auditor-General Young notifying them that they must pay personal property tax to the state treasury by the second Monday of November or suffer the imposition of a ten per cent. penalty. The notices call for the payment of at least $507,000, which the counties have failed to pay in as required by the act of assembly and the regulations of the State Revenue commission.

The notice calls attention to the fact that on July 23 the precept was issued by the state treasurer, by direction of the revenue commissioners, for the counties to make payment and that two subsequent notices were given. Some of the 26 countise have paid part of the money collected for personal tax, but the others have failed to pay at all.

LIFE MUST BE ENJOYABLE ON THIS MODERN FARM.

J. L. Ambs of Terry Township, Had Conveniences of City Brother.

If city folks have any idea that a farmer's life is "not worth living", they ought to pay a visit to J. L. Ambs' farm in Terry township, this county, and they would soon change their mind.

Mr. Ambs has recently installed a pneumatic pumping and electric light plant. Throughout the house, he has put running compressor, gets fresh water at the faucets from his well, at all times, there being no storage of water. His entire house, as well as barns, are illuminated with electric lights and so that it will not be necessary to run his engine continusously has installed a storage battery, which also provides for all night service.

The power is furnished by a 2 h. p. engine, and in addition to operating his dynamo and water supply, this same engine does his separating, churning and family washing.

Mr. Ambs' says farming is a pleasure now and insists that "City people' have nothing on him.

False Pretense.

Judge Archbald of the United States Court in Scranton has ruled that to send a bogus check through the mails in payment for goods is not using the mails with intent to defraud, but a simple case of false pretense. His decision was made in the case of Clyde Baab, aged 16 years, who was arrested for sending a bogus check to a concern in Chicago, Ill.

SUPERIOR COURT DECIDES TWO IMPORTANT CASES.

Teachers Garb Act is Constitutional—Soldiers Must Have Decent Burial.

The Superior Court has recently decided two cases which are of great importance to the people of Pennsylvania. One is the declaring of the teachers garb act to be constitutional, and the other is in deciding that no indigent soldier shall be buried as a pauper.

In 1895 the Pennsylvania legislature enacted a law which had for its purpose the preventing of the wearing by a public school teacher of any insignia, dress, mark or emblem indicating that such teacher is an adherent or member of any religious sect, or denomination, and inflicting a fine upon any public school board for permitting the same. In another part of the state, a teacher was charged with the offense, and in the county court where the case was heard, the judge declared the act unconstitutional, alleging that it violated section three of article three of the state constitution.

The case was carried to the Supreme Court and Judge Rice of that body handed down an opinion in which he rules that the act is constitutional, and that it is unlawful for any teacher in the public schools of the state to wear a religious emblem, insignia, or garb while in the school room.

The Superior Court decision in which every soldier will be interested results from a case in one of the Northwestern counties of Pennsylvania. A veteran of the Civil War went into a neighboring county for treatment at a hospital and while there died. Being without means, and his relatives being financially unable to give him proper burial, the county in which he died sought to bury him in a potter's field, and collect the amount of the expense from the veteran's home county. The case got into the courts, and finally was sent up to the Superior Court. The judge in ruling upon the points of law said that no legislature ever convened in Pennsylvania intended that a man who had fought for his state and country, should be buried as a pauper or in a potter's field. He held that the county in which the veteran died shall bury him and not in a pauper's grave, but in some cemetery which is not wholly a potter's field, and that no other county is liable for the expense of the same.

Will Breed Dachshund Dogs.

C. P. Vosburg and P. M. Rockwell have at great expense imported two full blooded thoroughbred Dachshund dogs from Germany, and will engage in breeding these animals. There are but two other dogs of this breed in Pennsylvania. The Dachshund dog is the result of cross breeding of a fullblooded hound with a wild German ferret which are about twice as large as the ferrets in America. The dog from this breeding is of peculiar build, unlike any other dog, and are considered the best hunting dogs for every kind of game except birds. Messrs. Vosburg and Rockwell have ordered a two year old dog of this breed and he will be used to demonstrate the hunting ability of the Dachshund. The three dogs are registered in Germany and America, and have long pedigrees.

Monument Falling Down.

A contributor to the Elmira Advertiser reports that the Sullivan monument at Wellsburg has partially fallen and will soon lie in ruins. The lower portion of the southwest corner of the tower has collapsed. The remaining masonry is thus left without proper suport and probably the work of the frost, wind and rain will soon bring the whole tower to the ground. It seems highly regrettable that an historical landmark which means so much to this valley should pass by the board for want of a day's work by a mason.

Five Postoffices Discontinued.

Five postoffices in Wyoming county have been discontinued this Fall on account of the Rural Delivery. They are Carney which is served from Meshoppen, Dixon, East Lemon and Starkevale served from Tunkhannock, and West Nicholson from Nicholson In Susquehanna county the postoffice of Jackson Valley, Nixon, Parma, Powersville, Tingley, Tirzah and Tresco have also been discontinued on the same account, also Long Valley and Sciotavale in Bradford county.

Goes With Lehigh.

W. A. Pursley has resigned his position as a special officer in the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad to accept the inspectorship of railroad police for the Lehigh Valley railroad. He will be associated with ex-Chief of Police Charles F. Evans, who is now the head of the Lehigh Valley force. He will have 90 men under him, and will establish headquarters at Bethlehem. Mr. Pursley was connected with the Reading railroad for about 14 years and agout a year ago entered the service of the Pennsy.

Tom Piollet a Star.

Tom Piollet of Wysox, starred in the State College—U. of P. football game at Philadelphia on Saturday. Piollet played on the State team, and his clever work was one of the features of the game. The Philadelphia papers give him credit for one of the best tackles of the contest which ended in a tie, 3-3.

Overcome by Coal Gas in Their Home at Franklindale.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bowman, well known people of Franklin township, had a narrow escape from asphyxiation in their home at Franklindale early Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Bowman was awakened about 6:30 by the strong smell of coal gas, and found her husband lying on the floor. She made her way to a window and called to her son, Bradford Ellis, who lives next door.

Mr. Ellis hurried to the Bowman home and found his mother and stepfather upon the floor. Mrs. Bowman had fainted after summoning help. He opened all the windows, and doors, and summoned assistance. Dr. Haines of Monroeton, was called, and made a quick trip to the Bowman home, administered stimulants, and soon had Mr. and Mrs. Bowman out of danger.

The gas escaped from a coal heating stove.

Merchants at Camptown.

About 25 of the merchants belonging to the Merchants' Mutual Protective association, with their wives met at Camptown on Thursday, Oct. 14, for their regular fall meeting and for the purpose of enjoying an outing. The business session drew out many good things for the benefit of the members of the association, among which was a resolution to fine any member the sum of $10 if, after that meeting, such member should extend credit to a person who was on the "delinquent list" of the association. After the business meeting came the social hour and the banquet furnished by the Camptown Ladies' Aid society, both of which were most heartily enjoyed by all present. It was decided that the annual meeting of the association should be held in Wyalusing in January.

Orderly Under Knife.

James Reed, an orderly at the Robert Packer hospital submitted to an operation Wednesday morning. Many months ago he had an attack of pneumonia Empyema, developed. Several times it became necessary to open his lung cavity and drain out the puss. Finally a tube formed connecting the puss sack with the skin on his back and through the tube there was a constant leakage. The operation performed today was to close the tube.—Sayre Times-Record.

What a Little Ad Will Do.

The other day W. G. Mills of North Towanda advertised a fresh Jersey cow for sale, and the second day after the ad was published in The Review he ordered it out saying he did not have enough cows to supply the demand. Notwithstanding the fact that he sold the cow at once, and the ad has been discontinued, inquiries keep coming to this office as to "who has a Jersey cow for sale?"

Offered to Settle.

Says the Sayre Times-Record: "Assistant Superintendent Matchett of the S. & N. Y. railroad was here Wednesday evening attempting to settle the claim of Mrs. Julius Vogel against that railroad. Mrs. Vogel was injured in a collision between a Lehigh train and a caboose and engine belonging to the S. & N. Y. She refuses to settle until the full extent of her injuries is known."

Improving Creamery.

Extensive improvements are to be made to the creamery at LeRaysville this Fall. A concrete floor will be placed in the main room and a well driven that will give them sufficient supply of water. During the past season the water has been a source of trouble. While these improvements are being made the milk will be separated and the cream will be taken to West Auburn.

Judge Searle Receives Gift.

At the home of Judge R. W. Archbald in Scranton Tuesday night, at an informal dinner, a solid silver pitcher the gift of Judge Archbald and the officials of the United States court for the Middle District of Pennsylvania, was presented to Judge Alonzo T. Starle of Wayne county, who was recently assistant district attorney of the court.

Not $7,000, But $70,000

Major Levi Wells states that the report going the rounds, that the Troy creamery has finished its $7,000 butter contract with the government, is very much out of the way. It should be $70,000, says the Major, by and through whom, as a representative of the government, the contract was made.

Robbers Captured.

Three men who attempted to rob the postoffice at Jersey Shore early Friday morning were captured after an exciting chase. They were seen as they left the building and the posse that pursued them ran them to cover in a barn at Avis, where a sharp fight resulted in their capture.

HON. J. K. NEWELL SIGNALLY HONORED.

Chosen President by the Trustees of the Robert Packer Hospital.

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Robert Packer hospital held in Sayre Tuesday, Hon. J. K. Newell, cashier of the Citizens National bank of Towanda, was elected president of the Board to succeed Henry Streeter, deceased.

C. H. Jennings of Towanda, W. L. Barclay of Laquin, and C. J. Shea of Sayre, were elected trustees to fill vacancies.

Mr. Newell, the new president, is well qualified for the important position which he has been chosen to fill. He has been closely associated with the hospital for a long time, being a member of the Board of Trustees, and has taken a great interest in the work of the splendid institution. At the head of the official board, he will prove a valuable acquisition to the hospital management.

SIX CARS BROKEN OPEN IN TOWANDA YARDS.

Small Amount of Booty Taken by the Pilferers.

Six freight cars standing in the Lehigh yards at Upper Towanda, were broken open and rifled on Sunday night. But very little booty was taken, the thieves evidently being dissatisfied with the assortment of goods.

The boxes and packages in the cars were tumbled about and a number of them were broken open. Some ammunition was taken, as was a quantity of merchandise. The cars were richly laden with provisions and goods consigned to grocery stores, but this did not seem to appeal to the taste of the robbers, who were content to carry off a number of small articles, and some loaded shot shells.

New Lehigh Offices.

G. W. Foster has been appointed general land tax agent for the Lehigh. This makes a special department of this kind of work which heretofore has been under the management of P. H. Burnett, who was also the industrial agent for the company. Now Mr. Burnett will be known as the industrial commissioner only. Under this new head several transfers have been made. R. D. Van Duzer, who was transferred from Sayre to Geneva some time ago has charge of the State of New Jersey, J. W. Foster has Pennsylvania, and C. P. Rose has New York State.

Opinion on Teachers' Pay.

Dr. N. C. Schaeffer, state superintendent of public instruction, in answer to an inquiry, has advised County Superintendent Landis, of Montgomery county, that he finds no authority in the law for the payment of $2 a day for teachers who go visiting schools during institute week, and if auditors should object to such payment directors would be personally responsible for the amount thus paid out without due order of law. Heretofore it has been held that visiting schools was equivalent to attending the institute.

Will Employ Experts.

Luzerne's county commissioners have come off their high perch in connection with the graft prosecution growing out of the new court house muddle and have specifically authorized District Attorney Salsburg to employ expert witnesses during the prosecution of the cases. Inasmuch as the commissioners are among those indicted they hesitated about employing experts who might aid in convicting them.

RAILROAD MEN WILL REQUEST MORE WAGES.

Conductors and Trainmen Want Improvement of Conditions.

Conductors and trainmen of the Pennsylvania, Lehigh Valley and the Reading systems will make a request for a general increase in pay and improvement of conditions before the end of this year. Delegates of the Brotherhood of Traimen arrived at this decision at a meeting in Boston Thursday night. The important roads entering this city are not the only ones affected, the action applying to all lines east of the Mississippi, north of the Chesapeake and Ohio lines and those of Eastern Canada.

The decision that the time was a proper one for the increased wage and betterment of hours request was made at the session of the fourth annual convention of the Eastern Association of General Chairmen of the Joint Boards of Arbitration and Adjustment of the conductors and trainmen's organizations on all lines in the eastern jurisdiction.

A definite proposition to ask for a general wage increase and improvement of hours, so that ten hours will be the maximum day on each, was adopted, and will be at once submitted to a referendum vote of the men of each system. The Executive Board and the grand officers of the conductors and trainmen will meet at some central point about December 1, receive the reports of the vote from each system, and if the main proposition is favored, will direct the date upon which the requests will be presented to the managements.—Wilkes-Barre Times-Leader.

WILL COUNT VOTES ON THE AMENDMENTS.

Will Be Considered Same As Names on the Ballot.

The vote on the ten constitutional amendments which figure on the ballot for the November election this year will be counted the same as votes for candidates on the state ticket.

The office of the Secretary of the commonwealth is providing a special return sheet which will be sent to the clerks of the courts of every county so that an official return of the votes on the amendments may be made to the state capitol the same as the official vote cast in each county for the candidates on the state ticket.

A special request will be made that the returns on the amendments be sent to the capitol as soon as officially computed.

MODEL ORCHARDS.

The State Department Will Extend Operations in That Line.

The State Department of Agriculture announces that it proposes to establish a model orchard in every fruit growing community throughout the State, similar to the work it has been doing on the farm of Fred H. Fassett, of Meshoppen township, Wyoming county, for some time. The plan, as announced by Prof. Surface, the economic zoologist, is to invite applications from farmers who would be willing to follow instructions and conduct their orchards in an up to date manner. Applications first received will be given the preference.

The State promises to guarantee the farmer from all possible loss resulting from the carrying out of the ideas of the Department as applied to the conduct of the orchard. It will also pay part of the cost of spraying, apparatus, etc.

All that is asked in return is that the State be allowed to conduct demonstrations of a public nature from time to time, hoping to convince the fruit growers of the expediency of adopting the latest and best methods.

Home From Europe.

Says the Scranton Tribune of yesterday: "Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wills of 210 Madison avenue, were kept busy yesterday entertaining the many of their friends who called to congratulate them upon their return last Friday from a most enjoyable four-months' tour of the principal cities and other points of interest in Europe and the British Isles. Mr. Wills was particularly well pleased with his journey, as it afforded him an opportunity to meet and spend some time in the company of his aged mother, who with six other near relatives, spent several happy weeks together, as guests of the Scranton man, in the city of Dublin." Mrs. Wills is a sister of Rev. Father Coroner, pastor of the Church of SS. Peter and Paul. The reverend gentleman met the travelers in New York on their return from abroad.

To Name Commissioners.

Governor Stuart is expected soon to name members of the election law commission, provided for by resolution of the last Assembly. There will be seven members—two Senators, two members of the House, and three not connected with the Legislature. The commission is to study and recommend new registration, primary and election laws, if changes are needed. The report must be made to the Legislature of 1911, and $10,000 was provided for expenses.

More Large Potatoes.

H. L. Norton of Liberty Corners, Friday brought to Towanda four potatoes of the Sir Walter Raleigh variety which weighed seven pounds. Six bushels of this variety planted by Mr. Horton produced 70 bushels of fine potatoes.

CANINE ACTED STRANGELY AND WAS PUT TO DEATH.

William Heath of Ulster Township, Dispatched Suspicious Animal.

A Shepherd dog owned by William Heath of Ulster township, was put to death Friday by the owner. The dog had been acting strangely, and Mr. Heath fearing rabies took time by the forelock and shot the canine. J. J. Lewis brought the head of the dog to Towanda, and it has been sent to the State Livestock Sanitary board by Dr. Marshall, the veterinary.

Before being killed, the dog played with the two years' old child of Mr. and Mrs. Heath, but made no attempt to harm the little one, simply lapping his hands. A small sore on the side of the child's face might have been touched by the dog's tongue, and thus the anxiety of the parents to know whether the animal was suffering with rabies.

Horrible Accident.

Her 14 months old babe sitting on the kitchen table a mass of flames was the terrible sight that met the eyes of Mrs. J. F. Yarrison of Williamsport upon arising and going down stairs Monday morning at 5:30 o'clock. The little babe had been placed there by the father, who had carried her down stairs a few moments before and who had set her there while he went to the home of a neighbor to get a pail of water. A lighted lamp had been placed on the table close to the child and it is from this that it is thought that the babe's night robe caught fire.

Narrow Escape.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Irvine of Liberty Corners, had a narrow escape from serious injury Sunday afternoon. They have been visiting at Stevenson in Albany township, and were enroute home, when a locomotive on the Bernice branch of the Lehigh frightened their team, which ran upon an embankment, throwing Mr. and Mrs. Irvine out. Mr. Irvine was slightly injured. Mrs. Irvine was first to arise, and quickly grabbed the reins, thus preventing a runaway and more serious accident.

Big Lumber Deal.

John Devlin, Harry Wesner and Phillip Longroi of New York city, and Charles Devlin of Towanda, have purchased a large timber tract near Bangor, Maine. Next Spring a mill will be installed on the tract and the timber, which is nearly all spruce, will be cut and marketed.

Dividends Paid.

The stockholders of the First National Bank of LeRaysville received their tenth semi-annual dividend of three per cent. on Friday of last week. When this dividend is paid the stockholders will have received since the establishment $7,500. The surplus fund has been increased to $12,500 or one-half of the Capital Stock.

Greatly Improved Paper.

Great changes have been wrought in the office of the Gazette and Bulletin, a representative Williamsport paper, with the result that the publication presents a very handsome typographical appearance, being up to date in the make-up and featuring of news articles.

Divorces Granted.

Judge Fanning has granted a divorce to Jennie Newkirk from her husband, Edwin S. Newkirk on the grounds of desertion; also to Ella C. Ruggles from Finley Ruggles on the same grounds.

NEWS OF THE GRANGES

Conducted by A. T. LILLEY

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1909, 431 granges were organized and 56 reorganized, making 487 granges added, thus beating the record of any year during the past thirty five years. Idaho organized 20 new granges; Vermont, 23; Ohio, 37; Pennsylvania, 33; New York, 39; Washington, 71; Michigan, 90; and nineteen other states from one to sixteen each. Surely the grange is gaining in numbers. With united effort the increase may be doubled during the coming year.

The next session of Pomona grange No. 23, will be held at New Albany, Nov. 4 and 5, opening on the 4th at 10:30 a. m. Reports from subordinate granges, appointment of committees and the question box will occupy time until noon. The afternoon session will be occupied with welcome address, response, reports of deputies, short talks for good of the order, question box and fifth degree meeting.

A public meeting will be held in the evening and time occupied with New Albany quartets, essays from Colley, Wesauking and Troy granges, short volunteer talks on "The True Object of the Grange" and address on "The Organization of Farmers" by Hon. J. T. Allman, secretary of the Pennsylvania state grange.

The morning session of the 5th will be devoted to the report of committee on Alfala; question box; discussion on report of committee on resolutions and free for all discussion on "The Greatest Need of the Farmer."

Every patron is expected to act well his or her part to make the Pomona meeting one of profit to all.

The inspection of Beech Flats grange on the 8th inst. found a good attendance of the wide awake members. Some of the most progressive moneymaking farmers of western Bradford are members of this grange and make it a special point to be at the meetings of the grange to aid in gaining and giving information that may help to make the farmer's life one of pleasure as well as of profit. The cement walks and basement floors, fine crops of peaches and apples, on well cultivated farms, are in keeping with the neat but commodious buildings. The master, J. E. Fitzwater, has much to feel proud of when he looks over the grange history of the past ten years. A grange home of its own in a quiet place is one of the charms of the southwest part of Canton township.

At two p. m. of the 9th inst. an inspection visit found us at the meeting place of Troy grange. A good attendance at grange in a busy country village that puts a hustle on will surely lend a part of its activity to every enterprise within its limits. Knowing this, it was not surprising to see the vim with which the members entered into the esoteric work and ritualistic questioning of the occasion. In the heart of the best dairying section of Bradford county it is in accordance with the fitness of things to note large financial interests connected with the banking business, poultry interests, mercantile activities, etc. While, within such surroundings on an occasion of this kind, it is not expected that all will be prepared for the particular business of the time, but all were so interested that everything passed pleasantly as well as profitably. Worthy Master Spalding presides over the largest grange in the county.

In the early evening of the 9th, we drove into the spacious barn of F. P. Fleming, master of West Granville grange. Floors and walks of cement were in evidence at the barn and dwelling house. The twenty-six cows in the barn show all the comforts of care and feed. A little later the neat grange hall was occupied by interested brothers and sisters who conferred degrees and received more names for membership. Interest and thrift were shown in all the work. (Found fine specimen of smooth sumac within ¼ mile of hall but know of no others in Western Bradfrod. Black Haw and arrow wood are more numerous than I have found in any other place. This grange might make a collection of quite uncommon woods.) The traveling library furnished by the state is being read with much interest. Brother George Haflet, who recently passed away, will be missed by many.

On the 15th, the hospitality of James Turner was enjoyed while at Minnequa for the purpose of inspecting Keystone grange. Cement basement was again found in full completion. Keystone grange hall is a pleasure to the grange while the decorations are very unique, teaching the lessons of the past in a very impressive way. The artistic designs of the ox-yoke, harrow, crescent, etc. are full of meaning. The lecturer's work in Keystone consists in using the leading string in such a way all have something to do that just suits the one who is called on to act. The lecturer is sure to get others to work, and this is the true field which creates thought, educating and cementing in work all classes of patrons of husbandry. Unity of thought and action is building and giving strength to all that strive for the preferment of any good cause. When the radical and conservative ones of any cause join hands there is sure to be something done and that at once.

In a few short weeks the National grange will meet at DesMoines and much will be done for the good of the grange if the strength of the organization acts as a unit.

Want to Appeal the Case.

Judge Fanning has granted a rule in the case of the Commonwealth vs. B. L. Keiser and C. W. Chamberlain, the two Standing Stone men, who were discharged by 'Squire Meredith on Thursday, to show cause why an appeal from the finding of the justice shall not be allowed. The men were charged with interfering with Fishwarden Shoemaker and State Constable Weathers in the performance of their duties, and after hearing the evidence and the argumnts of the attorneys, 'Squire Meredith discharged the defendants. The prosecution now desires the higher court to hear the case.

Trojans Staged.

Says the Troy Gazette-Register: "Mr. and Mrs. E. E. VanDyne attended a production in New York last week of Winchell Smith's new play, 'The Fortune Hunter,' which is having a fine run at the Gaity Theatre. The author will be recalled as the talented husband of Miss Grace Spencer, formerly of Troy. It is said he has drawn upon the acquaintances formed here some years ago for the originals of some of the strongest characters, principal among the number being Henry Davidson, now of Morgan & Co., New York. Tracy Fenner is also the prototype of a minor part."

We Shoot Out 75 Pounds Nearly Every Minute

Each mammoth gun, at each discharge, shoots out 75 pounds of Puffed Wheat or Puffed Rice.

And a gun, to meet the present demand, must be shot about every minute.

For, last month, seventeen million meals were served of these new, enticing foods.

If your folks like what most folks like, they'll enjoy these gigantic grains.

Crisp and nut-like—four times as porous as bread. Grains that melt in the mouth.

There is nothing else to compare with them. No cereal food half so good.

When you try them, you'll be glad that we told you about them. And your folks will be glad.

Don't wait longer. Order one package. Submit it to a vote of your table.

Puffed Wheat—10c

Puffed Rice—15c

These are the foods invented by Prof. Anderson, and this is his curious process:

The whole wheat or rice kernels are put into sealed guns. Then the guns are revolved for sixty minutes in a heat of 550 degrees.

That fierce heat turns the moisture in the grain to steam, and the pressure becomes tremendous.

Then the guns are unsealed, and the steam explodes. Instantly every starch granule is blasted into a myriad particles.

The kernels of grain are expanded eight times. Yet the coats are unbroken, the shapes are unaltered. We have simply the magnified grain.

One package will tell you why people delight in them. Order it now.

MEETING OF BRADFORD COUNTY BIBLE COCIETY.

Held on Wednesday of This Week—Officers Elected for Ensuing Year.

A meeting of the Bradford County Bible society was held in Towanda on Wednesday of last week, President Judge A. C. Fanning presiding. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President—Judge A. C. Fanning.

First Vice President—Miss Mattie A. Blight.

Second Vice President—Mrs. M. J. Long.

Secretary—Rev. E. A. Gernant.

Treasurer—F. H. Ott.

The officers of the County Sunday School association and the presidents of the sub districts are especially asked to co-operate with this society in the distribution of Bibles.

The Bible Depository is to be removed from the studio of Ott & Hay to the insurance office of Finney & Bender.

Rev. H. G. Harned of Scranton, superintendent of the Northeastern branch of the Pennsylvania Bible society, was present at this meeting and was elected superintendent of this county society. Mr. Harned made the following report:

This society is not a new organization, but an old one renewed, having been reorganized Oct. 25, 1908, when Hon. A. C. Fanning was elected president; Rev. Edwin A. Gernant, first vice president; Charles C. Smith, second vice president; Frank H. Ott, treasurer and Rev. Henry A. Abbott, secretary.

The renewed society has prospered just in proportion as Christian workers of the county have taken an interest in, and helped to work it. During the time that the society was not dead but sleeping, the contributions of the churches for the Bible society were sent on by them to the state or national society, and whatever Bible distribution was accomplished in this county for a number of years was done by the Pennsylvania Bible society sending a man for a few weeks at a time into the county, and then disappearing for a long time.

By the present arrangement, having an organization, with the officers in the county seat and a superintendent of a group of counties, having headquarters at a central place (now 126 Washington avenue, Scranton, Pa.) with a large supply of Bibles constantly on hand, ready to meet all demands, places things on a more practical basis.

A lot of Bibles and Testaments have been in the care of Mr. Ott, the treasurer, during the past year, but we need a larger supply in Towanda.

It has been my privilege to distribute 237 volumes of the Scriptures during the past year in this county, 52 volumes of which were donated.

In a little more than two years we have distributed in our group of counties in Northeastern Pennsylvania 13,300 volumes valued at $5,587.34, mostly in the English language, but the other languages were represented as follows: Italian, 697; Polish, 202; Welsh, 111; Luthenian, 87; German, 78; Russian, 34; Roumanian, 22; Hungarian, 28, and various numbers in Spanish, Bohemian, Bulgarian, Japanese, Slovak, Sweedish, Greek, Latin, Arabic and French.

Of these 2,278 volumes were donated, the rest were sold, some at cost or less than cost, and all profits on the higher priced Bibles went into the mission fund to help pay for those donated.

We aim to see to it that every one is supplied with a Bible or New Testament, and we call upon all pastors, Bible school workers and others to help us scatter the leaves which are for the healing of the nations.

Contributions have been received by me during the past year (and paid to the treasurer) having been credited to churches as follows:

Sayre M. E. church, $10; Athens M. E. church, $3; Camptown M. E. church, $3 at one time and later $2.35; Camptown Baptist church, $1.40; Hornbrook M. E. church $3; LaRaysville M. E. church $2; Orwell M. E. church, $2; Rome M. E. church, $1; Windham M. E. church, $1; Litchfield M. E. church, $1; Towanda M. E. church $3.25; Towanda Baptist church 25c.

Our office at 126 Washington avenue, Scranton, (with Clark, the florist) is really a department of Pennsylvania Bible society, the headquarters of which is at 701 Walnut street, Philadelphia, and we have in stock over a thousand dollars' worth of Bibles, Testaments and portions of the Bible constantly.

Correspondence, co-operation and contributions are solicited for the sake of the good to be accomplished—for the work's sake—that "the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea."

The revival of the home mission work in all of the churches has created a great demand upon the local Bible societies, and great statesmen as well as great churchmen have recently declared that "the immigrant is America's great problem" and that "the Bible is the only solution."

We must take care of the Bible work of this corner of the state, or it will be neglected. The American (or national) Bible society has enough to do to care for these portions of our country where there is not religious energy enough to keep up a local organization and to send Bibles to heathen lands.

LAWYERS ARE FOR VON MOSCHZISKER

Splendid Testimonial to the Republican Candidate.

LEADERS OF THE BAR SPEAK

Nominee For Supreme Court Justice Strongly Indorsed by Members of Legal Profession Who Know His Record.

[Special Correspondence.]

Philadelphia, Oct. 19.

An unusual tribute has just been paid by members of the Philadelphia bar to Judge Robert von Moschzisker, Republican nominee for the supreme bench.

Fourteen of the most prominent practitioners, headed by the acknowledged leader of the profession, John G. Johnson, and including Attorney General M. Hampton Todd, former Attorney General Hampton L. Carson, former Judge of the Superior Court W. W. Porter, former District Attorneys George S. Graham and John C. Bell, Senator Ernest L. Tustin, Alexander Simpson, Jr., George Wharton Pepper, Owen J. Roberts, Joseph DeF. Junkin, Henry P. Brown, Samuel M. Hyneman and Francis Shunk Brown have united in an address to the members of the bar of the state in support of Judge von Moschzisker's candidacy.

It is a purely non-partisan document, as among the signers are Democrats and well-known independent voters, as well as members of the Republican party.

It is an unsolicited, genuine and sincere indorsement, prompted solely by a desire to have the citizens of the state recognize the importance of electing a thoroughly competent and absolutely trustworthy man to the highest court in the commonwealth.

Address to Pennsylvania Bar.

The address, which is sent out over the signatures of the lawyers named above, reads as follows:

To the Lawyers of Pennsylvania—

Irrespective of political affiliations we, as members of the bar of Philadelphia, knowing Judge von Moschzisker as a man, as a lawyer and as a judge, in view of his nomination for the office of associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, desire to express to the profession throughout the commonwealth, the opinion entertained, we believe, by this bar generally of his entire fitness for that high office.

Intelligent by nature, a close student, fond of research, with an acute, alert and discriminating mind, with an unusually retentive memory and wide experience in legal and other affairs, he is quick to comprehend, though deliberate in the maturing of his judgment. He combines with knowledge of the law, keen logic, sound judgment and clear, forcible expression.

During his six years of service upon the common pleas bench of this county he has displayed thorough conscientiousness, great industry and capacity for work, united with absolute fearlessness, freedom from narrowness or prejudice and the ability to dispatch legal business in the most practical way.

Six reversals, with almost 400 written opinions delivered, is a remarkable record, and testifies most strongly to his accuracy and the thoroughness of his grasp of facts and law.

Judge von Moschzisker has the esteem and good will of this bar and this community as a self-reliant and courageous man, as a good citizen and an able, considerate judge.

Judge Von Moschzisker's Strength.

The nomination of Judge von Moschzisker has met with popular support, and his candidacy has been growing stronger every day since the Republican convention adjourned.

The closer his record on the common pleas bench is studied, the better are his admirable qualities appreciated. Known as the "writing judge" among his colleagues on the bench, Judge von Moschzisker has long been looked upon as one of the most industrious and painstaking jurists in the state. He delights in delving into his law books and frequently works way into the night preparing his opinions, which are models of thought and accuracy of expression, and which form an important part of the jurisprudence of recent years.

Judge von Moschzisker has not been seen upon the stump in this campaign, nor will be he, and he has not even taken occasion to visit other parts of the state since his nomination, as he entertains pronounced views regarding the impropriety of a candidate for the supreme court making a canvass for votes or in any way taking part in a political campaign. He is daily engaged in the performance of his duties as a judge on the common pleas court of this city and has declined every invitation to public functions which might in any way be construed to be of a political character.

DARING ESCAPE FROM POTTER COUNTY JAIL.

William Thompson Deliberately Filed His Way to Freedom.

William Thompson, who has been confined in the Potter county jail at Coudersport for several weeks on a charge of burglarly and larceny, broke jail on Saturday night, and made good his escape. Thompson entered the home of John Willetts, at Austin, and stole property belonging to Leo Willetts, valued at $10 and was bound over to the quarter session court by Justice Olmstead in the sum of $300.

Thompson took advantage of the sheriff and deputy and sawed away at the iron bars of the jail until he made an opening large enough for him to crawl through, and then with an improvised rope made by tearing up his sheet and bed clothing, he let himself down from the second story window to the court to the south of the jail. Here he sawed the stable that held the lock on the iron doors at the west of the jail yard and in that way made his escape. The two other prisoners did not know of his escape until called for breakfast Sunday morning.

Effort was made to locate the missing man but so far without avail. Thompson cut the bars with a file until he got them nearly through, then with his great strength he bent them rest of the way. As he is a man weighing over 200 pounds he had a pretty hard squeeze to get through the opening he made in the bars of the jail.

DENNISON VS. DANTON.

Arbitrators Make Award In Favor of the Plaintiff.

Three justices of the peace, sitting as arbitrators Saturday awarded Dr. L. V. Dennison of Sayre, a judgement for $296.44 principal, $53.81 interest, together with costs of the suit against Stephen T. Danton.

This action was started some time ago before Justice Nelson of Sayre by the plaintiff attaching a quantity of goods belonging to Danton. Dennison was given a judgment by the justice, and in order to recover possession of the goods Danton gave bail absolute to pay the amount of any judgment with interest and costs of the suit should he be eventually defeated.

This case appears to be the culmination of a long string of actions both civil and criminal in which the parties were involved.

It seems that Danton wanted to purchase a horse,and so borowed $195 from Dennison for that purpose, while fifty dollars was for a coal bill and the balance for professional services for Danton's wife and mother. There was much evidence in favor of the plaintiff all of which Danton denied, but the preponderance was too great and so the arbitrators found against him. He will appeal.

L. T. Hoyt appeared for Dennison, and Charles M. Culver of Towanda for Danton.

This is the first case in Bradford county in which three justices of the peace acted as arbitrators.

As Newell Sees Canton.

Says the Canton Sentinel: Every day sees long strings of farmers wagons coming to town laden with apples, and the money realized for the crop in this section will aggregate thousands and thousands of dollars. This section is noted for three products—butter, eggs and apples. No effectual substitute has ever been found for the last two, although science has produced a pretty fair imitation of the first. A few years ago thousands of bushels of apples in this section rotted in the orchards or were fed to hogs, because there was not sufficient demand. This year the market seems able to take care of all that is offered.

Get a Souvenir Program.

Every person in Bradford county should have one of the souvenir programs issued for the Bradford County Sabbath School association convention which was held in Towanda this week. It also contains fine pictures of the Towanda churches, their pastors, soldiers monument, officers of the Sabbath School association, etc. These souvenirs are for sale for five cents each and may be secured at this office.

Kizer and Chamberlain Discharged.

The attorneys in the case of the Commonwealth vs. B. L. Kizer and C. W. Chamberlain, in which they were charged with interfering with Fishwarden Shoemaker and State Constable Weathers in the performance of their duties, were made before 'Squire Meredith Thursday, and that evening the 'Squire passed upon the case, discharging both defendants. W. P. Wilson represented the commonwealth while William Maxwell appeared for the defendants.

Hundreds Want to Sell Booze.

A news dispatch from Pottsville says: Though there are already 1,235 licensed saloons in Schuykill county, applications for 400 new saloons will be made at the coming term of Court, according to information received by the Law and Order Society. The society will ask the Court to take 400 saloons off the list instead of adding that number to the licensed dispensers.

GALUSHA A. GROW'S NAME AGAIN BEFORE THE PUBLIC

Figures in New York Divorce Tangle. The Blackmailing Case.

Through a New York divorce tangle the name of the late Galusha A. Grow, of Susquehanna county former speaker of the house of representatives and statesman of wide reputation, is again before the eyes of the public, the husband of the woman in the case declaring that Grow, who never married, was the father of his wife.

When Mr. Grow died a suit was started by a Brooklyn lawyer for $10,000, which he claimed as legal fees There was a great deal of secrecy about the matter, but it finally came out that the lawyer claimed the fee for services rendered by him in a stop to a system of blackmail to which Grow had to submit for years by a pair of New York women, one of whom claimed to be the mother of a child by Grow.

It developed recently that Mrs. Katherine Livingstone Williams was divorced from her husband, the latter bringing the suit, naming another man as correspondent. Mrs. Livingstone was Grow's ward, but she never knew who her father was. Williams says Grow, almost in his dying breath admitted that he was the father of the girl.

Now it has developed that the woman and a lawyer used the girl as a means for blackmailing Grow. It is known that when he died Grow was practially penniless, and it is said, she existed on the bounty of Andrew Carnegie. It is said that Grow was blackmailed out of $200,000 by the fear of exposure. The last money said to have been given by him was $60,000 of which the girl got $23,000, the woman $22,000, a lawyer $10,000 another man $5,000. Grow died very soon after he paid this assessment.

UNUSUAL CHARGE.

Luzerne County Grand Jury Receives Charge Straight From Shoulder.

The grand jury is in session in Wilkes-Barre this week. Burgess Joseph Freeman, of Duryea, is the foreman. Judge Francis O'Connor, of Cambria county, who is assisting the Luzerne judges this week, on account of Judge Lynch being ill, delivered the charge, and it contained some things quite out of the ordinary. He requested the jury to return true bills against what he termed "unprosecuted cases."

Judge O'Connor said that he considered "unprosecuted cases" houses of questionable repute and speakeasies, which are known to exist and which for perhaps many reasons are allowed to flourish without being disturbed. The local judges have never in such specific form called the attention of grand juries to unprosecuted cases. Consequently if the present body of jurors follow out Judge O'Connor's instructions they will return every house as well as the owner of every house rented for improper purposes for prosecution.

Sullivan County Spelling Match.

County Superintendent Killgore, of Sullivan county, has inaugurated a spelling contest in which all the schools of the county are invited to engage. A list of fifty words will be published in the county newspapers each week until a total of 1000 words have been printed. Spelling contests will be conducted in each school every week, and three scholars making the best records will be selected from each school to engage in a county contest at some future date. The words printed in the newspapers will be used, but in the final match if all these words are spelled correctly, the spelling book will be resorted to until the champion of the county stands alone.

Catchy Ad.

In advertising for a "lady printer" the Knoxville Courier says: "We might add by way of illustration what becomes of all the girls we employ, having had lady printers in the office for the last 20 years, and with one or two exceptions they have remained until they decide to lay aside the stick and composing rule and branch out into matrimony. We do not guarantee this result in all cases."

Goes to Training School.

INDISPENSABLE.—There are some simple remedies indispensable in every family. Among these, the experience of years assures us, should be recorded Perry Davis' Painkiller. For both internal and external application we have found it of great value; especially can we recommend it for colds, rheumatism, or fresh wounds.—Christian Era.

HAWES STREET RESIDENT FLIMFLAMMED OUT OF $10.

Thomas Lynch Gives Money to Stranger Who Guarantees to Cure Him.

Thomas Lynch, a young man, living on Hawes street just outside the borough limits, is the victim of a flimflam artist who separated him from $10 on the seventh of this month.

Lynch, who is 25 years of age, has been afflicted with a nervous disease for a long time, and has spent much money for medical treatment, having visited specialists in many cities. On Oct. 7, a man about 35 years of age, called at the Lynch home on Hawes street, and inquired for Thomas Lynch. The young man came forth, and the stranger introduced himself, stating that he could cure him of his ailment as he himself had been cured ten years ago. Upon being questioned the stranger mentioned several physicians and specialists who had treated Mr. Lynch, and this threw his intended victim off his guard.

The stranger then made a proposition to cure Mr. Lynch for which he was to receive $50, $10 down before the first treatment, and the other $40 after the cure was affected. A doctor was to call once a week and administer the treatment. The first payment of $10 was made and the stranger gave a receipt which is, almost impossible to read, and the signature cannot be deciphered.

Two weeks have passed and nothing further has been heard of the stranger, and Mr. Lynch is confident now that he has been tricked out of his $10.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY.

Interesting Meetings Held at Roseville on Oct. 25.

A Sunday school rally was held at Roseville on October 25. The morning session was opened by singing by the choir from Rutland Hill; prayer by the pastor then Mrs. Steven from Binghamton gave a very impressive demonstration of junior work in Sabbath schools. The Austinville choir then sang and this session was dismissed by the pastor.

The afternoon session was opened by singing from the chorus choir and Tpworth League. A very impressive paper was delivered by Mrs. Steven in regard to the graded system of teaching in the Sabbath schools. Discussion was led by the pastor. Another very impressive paper was given by Miss Mina Longworth on the benefits of teacher's meetings, led in discussion by Mrs. Steven. Reports were given by all schools. In closing a very impressive solo was given by the pastor.

The evening session was opened by the chorus choir; prayer by the pastor, after which Mrs. L. J. Kelsey gave a recitation which seemed to touch every heart, following this the pastor Rev. L. J. Kelsey gave an able discourse on these words, from Sam. 16-3, "Send and fatch him" or the Sunday school of today and the church of tomorrow. The meeting was closed by the chorus choir singing, followed by the benediction by the pastor, and was a delightful day long to be remembered by Roseville people.

War Veterans Dying Fast.

A news dispatch from Washington says: "Death's invasion of the fast thinning ranks of war veterans caused 48,312 names to be dropped from the pension rolls of the United States last year. Of this number 32,831 were survivors of the Civil War. The total loss to the pension roll from all causes was 51,581. In striking contrast to these figures, comprised in the annual report of Vespasian Warner, Commissioner of Pensions, is the statement that the government paid out in pensions in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1909, $161,973,703, which, the commissioner declares, is the largest amount ever disbursed for pensions in one year. Commissioner Warner explains that the increase in the amount paid out for pensions was principally to the large number of pensioners placed on the roll under the act of February 6, 1907, granting $12, $15 and $20 to survivors of the war with Mexico and the Civil War on reaching the ages of 62, 70 and 75 respectively."

ONE LITTLE WOMAN GETS TWO MEN GOING.

Strange But Dashing Lady Has Fun With Two Railroaders.

It is not often that anything gets on the nerves of railroaders but such a thing happened on Main street Thursday afternoon. In this case one little woman got two big men going and then some.

The two railroaders, who are rather prepossessing, and pride themselves upon their good looks, were standing in front of a music store, and were startled when a stylishly dressed lady glided past them and into the store. Men like, they were attracted by the cute figure and fair face, and of course commenced to "rubber."

While they were looking in the window of the music store, the little lady walked to the show window where many copies of sheet music were on display and selecting a copy gave it a slide down the incline toward the plate glass where it could be read by the railroaders.

Imagine their surprise when they read, "Kiss Me, Kid." One railroader grabbed the other, and called for "brakes," but it was too late, for about that time the lady with a fascinating smile passed out of the store and was floating down "the mal." In her wake trailed one of the railroaders, while the other stood wondering who she was, where she came from, where she was going, and which one she meant when she flashed the message via the sheet music, "Kiss Me, Kid."

GREAT CHESTNUT CROP.

Northumberland County Man Gets Rich Growing Them.

Attorneys James W. Piatt and Asa S. Keeler were down in Northumberland county on business Friday, and by invitation visited the great chestnut farm of C. K. Sober at Paxinos, about 13 miles from Sunbury.

Mr. Sober raises nothing but chestnuts from grafted trees which he calls the "Paragon Chestnut." They are two or three times as large as the common wild nuts. He has a large acreage in trees, which he keeps trimmed low, so that the crop is easily gathered. He started in business only nine years ago, and the largest of his trees are only about three inches in diameter he will get several carloads of nuts from them this season. He has contracted the whole crop to a firm in Seattle, Wash., and gets $8 or $9 per bushel. He employs from thirty to forty Italians as pickers, while nine men assort the nuts and crate them for market. Some idea of the size of the crop may be gathered from the fact that he has fattened seventeen hogs this fall merely by feeding them the cull nuts.

The nuts are not quite so sweet and finely flavored as the wild chest nut, but they are much sought after with which to stuff turkeys and other fowl when roasting, and are also cooked same as Lima beans, roasted and salted to be eaten like almonds or is ground into flour and made into bread, which is said to be very nutritious.

The growing of these chestnuts could doubtless be made profitable by farmers in this section. Land that is practically worthless for tillage can be utilized, and the trees come into bearing the first or second year following planting. They are not troubled with San Jose scale or other pests, and do not require spraying and looking after as much in other ways as fruit trees do, while a crop is nearly always certain. It would be a good matter for the farmers to investigate at least.—Tunkhannock Republican.

For making unkind and critical remarks about the hat which Miss Ruth Devende was wearing, Miss Mae Carey, of Wilkes-Barre, was fined $25 by Alderman Brown. When Miss Devende remonstrated she said Miss Carey used language "unbecoming a lady." Miss Carey's attorney refused to let her pay the fine and will appeal the case

BABY'S TERRIBLE WATERY ECZEMA

Itching Humor Broke Out on Tiny Mite's Cheeks—Would Tear His Face Till Blood Streamed Down Unless Hands were Bandaged—Spent $50 on Useless Treatments.

CURED BY CUTICURA AT COST OF BUT $1.50

"When my little boy was two and a half months old he broke out on both cheeks with eczema. It was the itchy, watery kind and we had to keep his little hands wrapped up all the time, and if he would happen to get them uncovered he would claw his face till the blood streamed down on his clothing. We called in a physician at once, but he gave an ointment which was so severe that my babe would scream when it was put on. We changed doctors and medicines until we had spent fifty dollars or more and baby was getting worse. I was so worn out watching and caring for him night and day that I almost felt sure the disease was incurable. But finally reading of the good results of the Cuticura Remedies, I determined to try them. I can truthfully say I was more than surprised, for I bought only a dollar and a half's worth of the Cuticura Remedies (Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills), and they did more good than all my doctors' medicines I had tried, and in fact entirely cured him. I will send you a photograph taken when he was fifteen months old and you can see his face is perfectly clear of the least spot or scar of anything. If I ever have this trouble again, I will never think of doctoring but will send for the Cuticura Remedies at once. As it is, I would never think of using any other than Cuticura Soap for my babe. You are at liberty to publish this, it may help some distressed mother as I was helped. Mrs. W. M. Comerer, Burnt Cabins, Pa., Sept. 15, 1908."
